The ram Arkansas has proved to be a troublesome customer for the enemy's gun-beats, and the Yankees declare that they will capture her if they lose half their fleet in doing so. On Tuesday night, nine gunboats are said to have succeeded in passing down, but not until they had been very badly damaged. It is supposed that the enemy will make a despearate effort to capture the Arkansas.

THE DISASTER BEFORE BICHMOND .-Washington July 3 .- At last it is out! A week ago to-day began before Richmond a series of five days' battles, the result of which, mystify it as you may to soften the disappointment, is a decided reverse.

There are glorifications of the "brilliant strategy" of changing the base of operations that only raises the wonder why, if the James River base were so vastly superior, it was not discovered four weeks ago, before the time had been wasted and the army had been scourged by the malaria of the Chickahominy swamps; there are contused accounts of desperate fights that leave one in doubt whether we won or lost or whether so losing were not more konthan the most brilliant victory; there are strange stories of fearful slaughter, or the destruction of millions of dollars' worth of army stores at White House of the loss of our siege guns, and of other disasters so crushing that we retuse to believe them till forced to it; but in the to accept: The President admitted year terday to an officer who, of right, demanded that the silence of the Government should be broken, that McClellan seriously defeated, and that he called for fifty thousand more men. A Melancholy Occurrence.

We regret to learn that Mr. John OWING, of the C. S. N., late of Portsmouth Va., now residing in Charlotte was robbed by the common enemy of man on Saturday last in the death of a very interesting daughter, Indiana, aged about 8 years, after a short illness, of Typhoid Fever.

The affliction is more keenly felt in conacquence of the family being strangers in a strange land, yet we know, that the warmest sympathy of the entire community is felt for the afflicted family.

The remains of the beloved child will be interred in the Cemetary in the rear of the Presbyterian Church in Charlotte, This Morning, at 8 o'clock.

It is a Wrong Impression.

Some three weeks since, in consequence of the scarcity of printing paper-not money to purchase with-we gave notice that for the future we would supply only a half sheet until paper could be readily obtained. yet we would give as much readable matter as is generally found in other weeklies printed upon a full sheet, our edition being so numerous that a large supply of toned moral character was always an expaper is soon exhausted.

Wealso stated that our namer was our plied at half price alluding to the charge made by all other weeklies-but many of our friends have taken up the idea we proposed supplying them the Journal at fifty ents per annum. They are in error.

The white paper is worth more than that amount, at the mill, hence we would not be able to carry on business very long were we to agree to do that which would soon bring upon us bankruptcy. The Journal is supplied at one dollar per annum. Six months subscriptions are not received.

The Coolest Yet.

The New York Tribune's James Island correspondent, speaking of the difficulties attending the operations of the Yankees on the South Carolina coast says:

Charging through the vines and undergrowth, or into the matted swamp, they only find where the skulking traitors have been, for they know too well the temper of our Northern soldiers to meet them in a hand to hand fight.

This strikes us as about the most finished specimen of impudence on record, coming as it does from one of a people who have been obliged to coin a new word, their vocabulary being inadequate to convey an idea of the precepitency of their retreat whenever they find themselves facto face with these "skulkers" -a people who have never yet failed to skedaddle. except when they had no place to skedad-

A Pertinent Inquiry.

A late number of the London Times has old Abe slightly on the hip, about crushing out the rebellion, in 1861, with 75,000 thirty day men. That paper has been cruel enough to refer to the hot haste also for her to pray to meet me in heaven. the failure to perform the undertaking. Lincoln and his crew still insist that the thing can be done, and that it must be done speedily—the South, they say, must be conquered. Now we would like to have an answer to the following question : If 75,000 or 100,000 Federal soldiers could not get to Richmond in July, 1861, and thousand of our men, what prevented them 700,000 could not get there in July, 1862, from marching "on to Richmond"? adhow long will it take the whole force of Lincolndom to capture the Confederate capitol? The question may be varied thus: Union army must have been desperately (f it takes McClellan a whole year to ad- airaid of the remaining twenty-five thouvance from Manassas to Mechanicsville, and only a few days to get from the latter want to ge to Richmond, but was trying place to Shirley, on the back track, when will be probably have his army in Rich-will be probably have his army in Rich-back to the James river all the while.
